Call for Submissions Special Issue - July 2020: Patient & Family Experience in Behavioral Health

Follow this and additional works at: https://pxjournal.org/journal

Part of the Health and Medical Administration Commons, Health Policy Commons, Health Services Administration Commons, Health Services Research Commons, and the Mental and Social Health Commons

Recommended Citation

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by Patient Experience Journal. It has been accepted for inclusion in Patient Experience Journal by an authorized editor of Patient Experience Journal.
Call for Submissions

Special Issue – July 2020
Patient & Family Experience in Behavioral Health

Patient Experience Journal (PXJ) is excited to announce the call for submissions for its July 2020 special issue on the topic of patient & family experience in behavioral health. With a continued focus on the critical role of behavioral health in society today and a growing recognition of the importance of experience for those in behavioral health settings, a conversation on the practices in place and the identification of evidence of efforts leading to positive outcomes will be essential expanding the experience conversation in this setting. This special issue is open to all authors conducting cutting-edge research, implementing innovative practices or with powerful experiences to share around efforts to address the patient and family experience in behavioral health settings. The issue will look for pieces that address evidence-based efforts at improvement, practices that have impact on outcomes or stories that reflect the opportunities for elevating the human experience in behavioral health. In looking across care settings and across behavioral health issues, this special issue of PXJ looks to build a foundational collection of knowledge and information that will continue to push the conversation on experience forward. It will provide an opportunity to highlight accomplishments, reveal new findings and contribute to the literature aimed at improving results for all looking to ensure excellence in behavioral health settings.

Submission Types
As with all issues of Patient Experience Journal submissions can take one of the following formats:

Research
- Papers describing research studies using qualitative, quantitative, experimental, survey, and innovative multi-method designs to rigorously test hypotheses about the prevalence and impact of patient experience efforts and interventions to facilitate it.

Case Study
- Papers describing specific and tangible application of practice, the evidence behind its selection and the measurable outcomes it has generated. Submissions should be structured to include:
  - A description of the issue the effort looked to address.
  - The practices, processes or programs applied to address the issue and why these were selected.
  - The measurable outcomes - positive, negative or neutral - realized as a result of the effort.
  - Implications for this case on further practice and generalized recommendations based on the outcomes.
  - Suggestions for further exploration or research in this area. Questions that remain.

Personal Narrative
- Papers that showcase individual patients, providers or others who are leading the effort to employ patient experience practices with powerful lessons, practical outcomes or measured results. Submission should be a maximum of 2500 words to capture the essence and importance of the story and should be structured as follows:
  - Intent of the essay/introduction to the narrative - What do you intend to share?
  - General narrative, a synopsis of the story highlighting relevant moments - What was your experience?
  - Reflections/recommendations based on experience - focused on practical implication - What would you want to see happen/change as a result of your experience?

Submission Deadline
The deadline for submissions for this issue is April 1, 2020. Articles should be identified as intended for the special issue during the submission process. Submitting for this special issue does not guarantee inclusion in the issue. Articles not included may be considered for future issues of PXJ. You can begin the submission process here: http://bit.ly/PXJ_Submit. Please direct any inquiries to: info@pxjournal.org

About Patient Experience Journal
Patient Experience Journal is an international, multidisciplinary, and multi-method, open-access, peer-reviewed journal focused on the research and proven practices around understanding and improving patient experience. PXJ is designed to share ideas and research, and reinforce key concepts that impact the delivery of service, safety and quality and their influence on the experience of patients and families across healthcare settings.